

A few things you should know about purchasing and activating an iPhone.

iPhone. Only on AT&T.

AT&T and Apple have an exclusive relationship that combines a revolutionary phone with the largest digital voice and data network.

Activation

You activate your iPhone in a whole new way—using iTunes right on your computer. All you need is a PC or Mac, a credit card, access to the Internet and an e-mail address.

The credit approval for your AT&T service also happens on your computer. It's part of activating through iTunes, but if you'd rather have your credit pre-approved before you leave the store, an AT&T store representative can help you with that.

Rate Plans

To use iPhone, you'll need to sign up for a 2-year service agreement or a renewed 2-year service agreement if you're an existing AT&T (formerly Cingular) wireless customer. The plans start at $59.99 and include Visual Voicemail and Unlimited Data with both email and web plus texting. You can browse the Internet and send emails as often as you like without being charged extra.

If you're an existing AT&T (formerly Cingular) wireless customer and you want to keep your current voice plan, you just need to add an iPhone Data Plan. (This may replace your current data plan.) The iPhone Data Plan gives you Visual Voicemail, as well as Unlimited Data—including both email and web plus texting, all for as little as $20.

Service and Support

iPhone is covered by the Apple Warranty. There is no eligibility for the wireless phone insurance program.

Available only to consumer accounts. iPhone and associated wireless service are not eligible for corporate discounts.

You can return your iPhone within 14 days for a full refund, but there is a 10% restocking fee if the box has been opened.
